

We had a campus tour to the University of Rio Grande on December 14, 2017
It was long drive from our school but our students were able to meet with the admission counselors, take a tour around the campus and had lunch on campus.

University of Rio Grande is a private university. What's unique about them is the fact that they charge students only as a community college for the first two years which helps with the tuition a lot. Therefore, if you are one of those who can afford only community college fees, but still would like to live on campus, this might be your option.

I am glad our students had a chance to get a feel of the campus before making their decisions.

We thank the University of Rio Grande for hosting us.
